A.E.A. writes:

When the "Families of Allnutt and Allnatt" was published about a year or so ago, I was honoured to be invited to write the preface. Now that it is intended to supplement this book by much interesting information, which has become available since the book was distributed to the members of our family, I am again invited to write the preface to it.

All I have to say is much on the lines of what I said in the original book, which was that we were remarkably lucky to get the services of Arthur Noble, and of his wife Margaret, to write the book. They continue to acquire additional knowledge and information with a skill that is no less than admirable, and I hope it will long continue, for I believe it to be their intention to supplement the book from time to time, and I am certain we shall all look forward to the new issues with very great pleasure.

THE FAMILIES OF ALLNUTT & ALLNATT

Since the publication of our Book, we have received so many letters from all parts of the world and so much new information has been sent that we thought it would be of interest to circulate a News-Letter to all members of the Families.

First: The author apologises for some errors in the text and pedigrees; some are his fault, others due to difficult handwriting. A list of Errata and Addenda is now included. Will holders of the book please make these corrections. Special apology is made to two whose premature deaths were erroneously recorded.

We are very gratified at the reception that the Book has received; the many letters shows that it has given much pleasure, and, we think, an urge to continue the search for ancestors. We hope it will be used as a Family Bible in which future generations will be recorded. We take this opportunity to thank those who contributed so much to the actual compilation and to those who have sent additional information.

Genealogical Societies, Record Offices and Libraries, to whom copies were sent, have given special praise to the decor and presentation of the book. 'You have been fortunate in your choice of publisher and printer.' was one comment. With this we agree and offer our thanks to the Dolphin Publishing Company of Aylesbury: The printers, Messrs Hunt, Barnard & Company of Aylesbury and to Mr Timothy Chester, our technical editor.

A list of the members of the Families to whom copies have been sent is included herein. We had no idea of the size of the family in America - or of their enthusiasm for family history.

We regret that some of our correspondents have been unable to give enough information about their ancestors to enable them to be linked to the known branches. The clues lie in parish registers and other records, only a small percentage of which have been transcribed and indexed. As this work goes on, it is hoped that more of our lost ancestors will be brought to light. It is encouraging that several of our kinsmen and kinswomen have taken up the search. Good Hunting to them! So, please send any information, ancient or modern, births, marriages and deaths to be incorporated in another News-Letter.

A.H. Noble,

London, W.9.

A VERY ANCIENT ANCESTOR?

We are indebted to Mrs Caroline Davis (sister of A.E.A.) for this most interesting find. In the garden of the Wharncliffe Arms Hotel, Tintagel, Cornwall, stands an ancient cross. This is the description of it:

THIS UNIQUE STONE, a Cornish Cross, is situated in the front garden of the hotel. It has definitely been placed as of 9th Century origin.

It has been in its present position since 1875, and was brought here by one of Lord Wharncliffe's stewards, who found it doing duty as a gatepost on one of his Lordship's farms at Trevillet, and realising that it was of great antiquity and interest decided that it ought to be moved to a place of safety.

It is made of Grey Elvan, a hard local stone resembling a very fine granite.

It is inscribed and ornamented on both sides, and originally was round headed, but the rough treatment which it has received had done a considerable amount of irreparable damage. It is quite different from any other monument in the country.

The main inscription, in rudely formed Anglo-Saxon capitals and miniscules reads as follows:

AE LNAT FECIT HA(N)C CRUCEM P(RO) A(N)IMA SU(A)

The interpretation of this is:

AE LNAT MADE THIS CROSS FOR THE BENEFIT OF HIS SOUL.

On the shaft, in the same capitals and miniscules, is inscribed the names of the four Evangelists - Matthew, Mark, Luke and John.

AE LNAT! Surely he was one of our distant kinsmen. Evidently a man of some standing and concerned with his future welfare. He might well be astonished that a thousand years after he made or more pro-

THE FRONTISPIECE

The reproduction of the portrait of John Allnutt by Sir Thomas Lawrence has been much admired. Several people have noted a strong resemblance in him to a father, brother or cousin. There are evidently some handsome men in the family.

On the other hand, a member of the family maintains that there is a strong resemblance in the bust of Henry Alnut (the founder of the Almshouse at Goring Heath) to the author.

NATTS AND NUTTS

Although the 'u' of the second vowel was more common in old records, 'a' and 'e' are found. Somewhere there is still a family of Allnetts but it has not yet been gathered in. In the past there were about three Nutts to one Natt, but in England the Natts seem to be gaining. In America, as will be seen from the list of those to whom the book was sent, the Nutt population is very large, perhaps more numerous than in England.

By 1750 several families at Wallingford, Northstoke and Crowmarsh had adopted the spelling ALLNATT and have kept it ever since. However, there were Natts and Nutts living in this district side by side.

A new Allnatt family originating from Crowmarsh has come to light. Edward Allnatt, born in 1817, enlisted in the Navy in 1840 and was serving in H.M.S. Rattlesnake in 1844. He has descendants and one of them is taking up the search; it is almost certain that this family connects with pedigree No.13. An interesting point is that two sons moved to the Portsmouth district and finding there a family of Nutts (Ibstone branch D, pedigree No.5) changed the spelling of their surname to Allnutt. This does make a difficult problem for the genealogist!

CAPTAIN RICHARD ALNUTT

We are indebted to Mr Neil Allnatt, of Oxford, for much of the information about this man, which he found in the Bodleian (MS Eng. Hist C122. Extract from Coast Calendar Rolls of East India Company). Captain Alnutt is mentioned as commander of Reformation in 1624, then off the coast of Java. Reformation sailed for India on the 3rd March 1622 and arrived off Surat in October. In March 1623, her master Captain Wedmore was killed and presumably Richard Alnutt took command: he sailed toward the Persian Gulf but was set on fire by Portuguese at Hormuz and returned to Surat. In August 1624 in Reformation he was ordered to search for the Charles which had gone to Java to try to found a settlement near Bantam. In 1631 he was captain of London, apparently an ill-found ship. He complained but the Company instructed him to proceed thence (presumably India) and to give no further trouble.

He asked that two months of his and of his servant's pay should be sent to his brother Edward for the relief of his aged parents and again in 1633 for the same amount to be sent for the relief of his mother, his father having died.

Fortunately this is not the end of the story. By good fortune The High Court of Admiralty - Examination 1637/8, has been abstracted and indexed by the Anglo-American Record Society and there was found 'India Company versus Captain Alnutt concerning the loss of Palgrave.' It appears that Captain Alnutt had brought his ship home from Bantam (East Indies) sailing on the 5/6th February and arriving at Plymouth on the 15th September 1637. After staying some weeks at Plymouth he was ordered to proceed to London. When endeavouring to leave Plymouth the weather became exceeding violent. The pilot urged the Captain to put back to anchorage but he 'being in a fretful raging and passionate humour then threw down his staffe and stampeing said he would not return.'

The ship was cast away on St. Andrew's Island with the loss of cargo worth £120,000. Forty of the crew had died on the way home and in the shipwreck some forty or fifty more perished.

Neil Allnatt has found some more about this adventure. In the evidence against Captain Alnutt it was said that he refused to take the advice of the purser and master against putting to sea and when the ship was in danger refused to drop anchors or to cut the mainmast. Richard Alnutt's defence was that the weather was favourable when he sailed, that he did try to return when the storm blew up; he would not drop anchor because there was only $3\frac{1}{2}$ fathoms and if he had cut the mainmast part would have been on land and the rolling of the ship would have split her in twain. He had done his best and it was not his fault, but the hand of God. In 1637 he came before the Court again and pleaded that, having lost everything, he could not find money for bail. A search was made in Admiralty papers for the next two years but no more was found about this case.

There is a note in East India Company records for 1666 about a Captain Allnot and the ship Dragon which was seized by the King of Jambi and Jehore, the cargo being the property of Thomas and Frederick Leaver. This may be the same Richard Alnutt; if so, he was still at sea though he must by then have been an old man.

He has not been definitely identified but it is tempting to guess that he was the brother of Edward, the first known ancestor of the Ipsden branch.

INSURANCE POLICIES

Mr L.M. Wulcko, from whom much valuable data has derived, has sent a list of Insurances with much detail of properties owned by various Allnutts and Allnatts. Only a few can be mentioned:

Thomas Allnutt (Page 70) insured with the Hand in Hand his house and other buildings in Mark Lane (now the site of King's Beam House, headquarters of Customs and Excise.

Alice Allnutt (wife of Nathaniel - Page 39). Hand in Hand policy on six houses in Old Street, Clerkenwell, from 1757 to 1771. These should have gone to her son Zachary - but he was lost at sea.

Richard Allnatt the Younger of Wallingford. Royal Exchange Assurance 1774, on a tenement at Crowmarsh Gifford. The particular value of this lies in 'The Younger' which indicates that the father of the three brothers of Pedigree No.13 was Richard Allnatt who must have been alive at this date.

John Allnatt of Wallingford (Pedigree No.11). Royal Exchange Assurance policy 1775 shows that he had a malthouse at Wallingford and another at Crowmarsh. Two more policies relate to other malthouses in Wallingford. It looks as if he combined the trade with his legal work.

ODDS AND ENDS OF NEW INFORMATION

THE IBSTONE FAMILY

Mr L. John Mayes, Librarian and Curator of the Public Library, High Wycombe, Bucks, has sent the following note:

ZACHARY ALLNUTT (Page 50 and Pedigree No.4) was a paper maker and held a mill known as Marsh Green Mill, since demolished. He was one of the first manufacturers to install paper-making machinery. When the mob marched through the valley in 1830 they went to Marsh Green and smashed Zachary's machines. He kept up a constant stream of appeals to the county authorities for compensation (which apparently he never got). He was a churchwarden and in 1830 was responsible for the poor-rate. At least part of the family legend has confirmation.

THE IPSDEN FAMILY

Mr E.E. Smith, Hon. Secretary of the Clapham Antiquarian Society, has corrected two points:

Jane Allnutt, the bride in the 'Wedding Breakfast' (Page 75 and Plate 10) did not die in the first year of her marriage, as recorded in the History of the Woodgates... She died in 1892 according to a firm of solicitors who acted for the executors. How such an error can have been made is puzzling because several Woodgates were guests at the wedding.

Mr Smith has identified the picture on the wall of Mr Allnutt's gallery as The Thames from Richmond Hill by J.C. Hofland. It is now in the possession of the Grocers Company. A.E. Allnutt lives in the very spot from which this picture must have been painted.

It is strange how such mistakes occur and, thanks to Mr Smith, they will not be perpetuated.

THE ALLNATT FAMILY

From various sources more bits and pieces have come in:

RICHARD ALLNATT OF NORTHSTOKE (Pedigree No.7)

Again we are indebted to Mr Neil Allnatt who has found in the Bodleian deeds relating to land transactions. Richard is mentioned in deeds of 1700 as the owner of land in Northstoke. A deed of 1709 shows that Elizabeth, his mother, made over to him land in the common fields of Northstoke.

An interesting indenture of January 1713/4 shows that Richard was temporarily short of money for he borrowed £150 from Elizabeth Diaper, widow, of Wallingford and gave her a peppercorn lease for 500 years on two-thirds of his manor of Northstoke, Stoke Rew and Ipsden. Provided that Richard should repay £151-5-0 on the 25th April next ensuing the indenture would be null and void. Evidently Richard was able to repay the loan: Elizabeth Diaper could not be accused of being unduly usurious.

In June 1724, Richard Allnatt must have been again in money difficulties. There is an Article of Agreement between him and Seymour Richmond, of Wallingford, under which he sold his manor (or reputed manor) of Northstoke, Stoke Rew and Ipsden comprising some 147 acres of arable, meadows, cottages etc. for £1205. In the same agreement, he was given a lease on these same lands for a yearly rental of £50.

We should like to know more of this Richard. Unfortunately no will has been found and no record of his marriage or the baptisms of children. A marriage, which has just come to light, of William Allnatt (born in 1736) and Elizabeth Dorrell, widow of Northstoke 6th April 1761, may be a missing link. One of Richard's neighbours was Richard Dorrell. There is little doubt that Richard was the ancestor of at least one of the Allnatt lines.

JOHN ALLNATT OF SOTWELL (Page 97)

Miss Mary A. Allnutt, of Brightwell-cum-Sotwell, has sent notes from inscriptions on four gravestones in the churchyard of Sotwell, Berks:

 George Leaver Allnatt - died 26th April 1879 aged 25 years
 John Allnatt - died 25th June 1881 aged 28 years.

It is known that the first John had only one surviving son, John and the second John mentions only his wife in his will. The parentage of of George Leaver and the third John remains unsolved.

ELIJAH ALLNATT (Page 98)

From data sent by members of this family, it is now known that Flijah was the son of Edward Allnatt, of Hambleden, Bucks, blacksmith, born in 1813, married in 1834 Mary Elmer. A pedigree (No.20) has been sent to the descendants, some in England (Alexander and Rossington) and a branch in New Zealand - Richard Murray Allnatt, Bryan Cleaver Allnatt and Mrs Mary R. Brown.

Mrs E.G. Barker (Pedigree No.11) the oldest member of the Allnatt family has recollections of her uncles, Blake Pearman and Charles Atherton. Of the latter little was known when the book was written; it now appears that he was an accomplished linguist and could converse in seven languages. But his most notable achievement was his ability to recite the Lord's Prayer backwards!

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

Mrs D. Walter Myers, of Clough Pike, Cincinnati, and Mrs Virginia C. Clohset, of Birmingham, Michigan, both Allnutt descendants have been very busy and have found some new information about:

THOMAS ALLNUTT

He was the first of the family to emigrate to America. In the Minutes of the Council and General Court of Colonial Virginia have been found some interesting and amusing entries concerning Thomas. The date is June 20, 1624 and the case before the Court concerned the stealing or luring away of a girl of fourteen, named Mara Buck. There seems to have been a lot of gossip and it is recounted in great detail. Apparently a Mr Richards was willing to marry the girl, who lived on one side of the water but she was stolen away by persons on the other side. The gist of the accusation against Thomas Allnutt was that he had said that it was Mr Sandys, the Minister, who had stolen her. Mrs Allnutt was also accused of making a similar statement. Thomas was found guilty and ordered 'for giving out words of defamation against Mr David Sandys, minister, (in saying he would steal away Mara Buck) that he shall ask his forgiveness before this board, and shall likewise pay one hundred pounds of tobacco, toward rapacons (sic) of the church in James Citye at the next crop.'

September 12, 1625. It is ordered that William Brown boatswain of the good ship Elizabeth shall deliver three hats to Mr Thomas Allnutt which were sent out of England, which said Mr Brown sold at Kickawtan.

January 3, 1625. It is ordered that Mr Allnutt in regard of his neglect in looking to the cattle of the orphan Peeleg Buck, the son of Richard Buck shall pay one hundred pounds weight of best merchantable tobacco for the use of the said orphan, and to be compelled to give sufficient security to the overseers of Mr Buck's willfor making good the orphan's stock. Richard Buck, and his children, Mara and Peleg (Biblical names), were early settlers.

August 21, 1626. John Jackson sayeth that the will of Mr Thomas Allnutt which was written in a book and produced in court was the true will of Mr Allnutt as himself confessed to this deponent.

February 5, 1627. From a court case it appears that Mrs Allnutt had remarried - Thomas Bagwell.

Thomas Allnutt's fracas with the minister is reminiscent of old Zachary of Ibstone. Thomas could have been a son of Zachary (1). His death in 1626 is an important new fact and what is now needed is whether he had a son or sons.

Pedigree No. 16

From Mrs Myers copies of two wills have been received:

Sarah Allnut, of Calvert county, 1744. Her maiden name was Sarah Talbott. She bequeathed to her son, William, 'my negro Fellow called Chargo' and to grandchildren - a cow and a calf.

James Allnutt, of Montgomery County, who died in 1786. As will be seen from the pedigree, he had a large family to whom he left his lands - Thomas's Discovery, 400 acres in Frederick's County, Virginia and land at Kaintucke on the western waters in the State of Virginia (Kaintucke is presumably Kentucky).

We have also received a Family History written by Mr Frederick Dawson. This supplies the names of the descendants of James Allnutt of Gen.3; unfortunately he gives no dates, and the information may not be completely accurate. It is given as written:

The sons of James Allnutt and Virilinda Hawkins were: Thomas, Hawkins, Robert Doyne, James Nears, and daughters Jane, Sarah, Rebecca and Elizabeth. These, of the 4th Generation, would have been born about 1770 to 1780.

The 5th generation of this line: Thomas married a Miss Gott (page 116) and their children were: Hanson, Gilmore, James and Elinor. Hawkins married Jane Darby and their children were: George Washington, James, Basil, Benoni, Sarah, Rebecca and Nellie. Mr Dawson thinks this family went to Missouri. Robert Doyne married Mary Mackall Dawson (page 116) in 1807 and their children were: James, William, John, Elizabeth (who married her cousin Hanson) and Rebecca. James Nears married Barbara Ann Dawson and their children were: James Nears, Robert H.C. and Avilda. This generation, born in the first or second decades of the 19th century, must have descendants in various parts of the United States.

Mr Dawson recounts an amusing story of James Allnutt of the second generation. Apparently his sons by his first and second wives quarrelled. It was his custom, when a son married, to give him 100 acres of land but would not make a deed. His eldest son, Jesse, married a determined young woman who insisted and plagued the old man to give them a title to their land. In the end he gave way telling them they were fools not to trust him. When James died, the other sons found that they had inherited more than their hundred acres - but Jesse received one cent! The English equivalent of 'cut off with a shilling!'

AUSTRALIA & NEW ZEALAND

Miss Kathleen Allnutt Walker, daughter of Annie Gertrude Allnutt (Mrs Walker) the second daughter of Robert Henry Venn Allnutt (page 123), writes that her mother, aged 85, is the last living member of her generation.

She has a portrait which is thought to be that of Henry Allnutt, of Maidstone - a handsome man with dark hair and brown eyes and a very wrinkled forehead. She also has a portion of a diary written by the Rev. Richard Lea Allnutt - 'it seems to have been written when he was at odds with himself and is mostly about sermons.' According to family legend he had three sins - unpunctuality, laziness and over-eating!

Miss Walker has also sent details of the descendants of ROBERT HENRY VENN ALLNUTT (see Pedigree No.3 and page 123). At the time of writing only the names of his five daughters were known. His descendants are:-

EDITH m. William Gullledge. One daughter: Venn Gullledge m. John Masfield Sulmand.

ANNIE GERTRUDE b. 1878, m. 1905 Thomas Walker. Their children are:

John Allnutt Walker b. 1905

Gwen Allnutt Walker b. 1907 m. 1934 Frank Dowe

James Allnutt Walker b. 1910

Kathleen Allnutt Walker b. 1913

Thomas Allnutt Walker m. 1946 Kathleen Farr.

ROBENA m. Frederick Kitching. Their children are:
 Amy Kitching m. Barry Corbett Jones
 Walton Allnutt Kitching b. 1913 m. Margaret Milne

ETHEL LEA m. Charles Dutton. Their children are:
 Robert Charles Dutton b. 1910 m. Peggy Mckensey
 Richard Lea Dutton m. Pamela Suttor
 Winifred Dutton.

Most of these descendants are living in New South Wales.

Mrs A.M. Green (nee Allnatt) of Victoria, has sent some information about Archdeacon John Charles Parrott Allnutt (page 68). He was married but had no children. He travelled from England to Australia with a Congregational minister whose wife died on the voyage, leaving two young daughters. The minister begged Mr Allnutt to look after the children should anything happen to him. In fact, the minister died shortly after his wife and Mr and Mrs Allnutt adopted the two girls. One daughter married a Mr Sherville and their son, Ian Allnutt Sherville is now Bishop of Queensland.

From Mr Leslie Wilson Allnutt comes information about his father the Rev. Arthur Allnutt (Pedigree No.3). Arthur Allnutt was educated at Morden School, Surrey and a medal for Merit which he gained in 1858 has been preserved. He emigrated to Australia about 1869 and held teaching posts in Australia and Tasmania. He was ordained in 1880 and became vicar of Roma, Queensland, and of St Matthias, North Richmond, for twenty-two years. He was an Army Chaplain and retired with the rank of Lieut. Colonel. He died in 1930.

Marjorie Allnutt, wife of Miles Morland, of Caulfield, Victoria, writes that the Book led to a meeting with the Rev. and Mrs Green nee Marjorie Allnatt, when the two husbands found that they had been to the same school - Brighton Grammar School. She adds that the colour plate of the coat-of-arms was exactly what she wanted for a tapestry design! It will, no doubt, become an heirloom.

From New Zealand Mrs Jessie Allnutt, wife of Thomas Henry Spyers Allnutt, has been a regular and most interesting correspondent. We have received a beautiful set of coloured slides of their farm and of their children.

Mrs Marjorie Koens, a granddaughter of Henry Allnutt (page 126) has vivid recollections of her grandfather and his stories of his voyage to New Zealand in 1874 in the old sailing ship Tweed and he still had kept the passage ticket.

V I S I T O R S

Mr Melvin Merritt, son of the late Mr Melvin L. Merritt, a descendant of the Allnatt family (Pedigree No.17) visited England in the early part of the year and made contact with some of his kinsmen and kinswomen.

Mr and Mrs Geoffrey Bayly Allnutt of Sydney, Australia, spent some months touring England, Wales and Scotland. They joined Major Allnatt's party at Osea Island. Not the least part of their holiday was the meeting of several cousins.

Miss Eleanor Allnutt (daughter of Mr Frederick A. Allnutt) of Chevy Chase, Maryland (Pedigree No.16) attended a Summer School at Oxford in July and August. Miss Allnutt teaches English Literature at a Women's College. We had the pleasure of meeting this charming young lady and exchanging family gossip.

THE FAMILIES OF ALLNUTT & ALLNATT

Another year has passed and letters continue to arrive from kinsmen and kinswomen, particularly the latter who are, in general, more interested in their own or their husbands' forebears; as a result quite a lot of new information has been received.

Several people have written about the Cornish cross, the description of which was in the News-letter for 1963. A photograph has been obtained and here it is. I fear the interpretation of the inscription must be taken on trust.

An excellent little book Tracing Your Ancestors by Anthony J. Camp Foyle at 4/-, has recently been published and can be obtained from W.G. Foyle, 119-125 Charing Cross Road, London W.C.2 or from the Society of Genealogists, 37 Harrington Gardens, London S.W.7. 4/6 or 70 cents post free. Mr Camp writes: 'We are all omnibuses in which our ancestors ride and not to know who our passengers are shows little gratitude for those who have made us heirs of so many ages.'

It's a nice thought! Imagine yourself in the driver's seat; there will be, behind you, your parents, your grandparents, great grandparents and great-great - sixteen of them - making 30, and taking you back to about 1800. Another generation would fill the bus and after that a train would be needed. If you want to think back to 1600, when our earliest identified lived, the number of men or women from whom we inherit genes, would run to thousands. On the basis of four generations to a century by the time we get back to the Norman Conquest, it seems that the number of our ancestors would exceed the population of Europe at that time. But families became much inter-married and the calculation won't work. Don't forget that every living person had ancestors in the Iron, Bronze and Stone ages and so back to the primitive ape-like humans. Better leave it at that!

Corrections and additions to the pedigrees are still coming in and a list is given so that you may keep your copies up to date.

Please remember to send me family news - births, marriages and deaths. And finally, please write Christian names, surnames and place names in block capitals.

DAVID ASTON m.1937 Brigid Gordon, has children - ANNAMARIA BERNADETTE & BRIGID HELENA.

Pedigree No.8 pp.68,121.

Mrs Elizabeth Grant, née Allnutt, has brought to light the descendants of ERNEST AUGUSTUS ALLNUTT who emigrated to America. He married in 1886 Annie Belle MacKinnon, daughter of Duncan MacKinnon, of Tobermory, Mull, Scotland. Their children were:

ELIZABETH ISABEL b.1887. Married in 1917 Alexander William Grant of Glace Bay, Nova Scotia.

AGNES MARY b.1888 d.1933 unmarried.

ERNEST THOMAS d.infancy.

ANNIE THOMAS b.1892 d.1894.

The children of Mrs A.W.Grant are:

Allister b.1918: Christene (Mrs Pitt) b.1921: Ernest Allnutt b.1921:
Annie Agnes b.1923: Grace Elizabeth b.1925: Donald Wilson b.1927.

Pedigree No.9

Through Mr E.E.Smith, Secretary of the Clapham Antiquarian Society, contact was made with Mr Holles Allnutt Knox, a grandson of JOHN ALLNUTT of Charles Street, London, who was born in 1803. Mr H.A.Knox was born in 1906 – a long span for three generations. His father, Major Vicesimus Know married Violet Susannah, the youngest daughter of John Allnutt and half sister to Lady Brassey. They had nine children of whom Mr H.A.Knox is the eighth and only surviving son. All but one of the children were given Allnutt as a second name.

Pedigree No.14 Chinnor

More loose ends in this pedigree have been tied up. Mrs Margaret Allnutt (wife of John N.Allnutt of Cowaramup, West Australia) has traced another family. JOHN ALLNUTT of Chinnor, second son of WILLIAM, born in October 1799 emigrated to Australia in 1844. He died in 1861 at Australind. His son JOHN.C.ALLNUTT, born at Chinnor in 1833, married Kate Layman, of Wonnerup. He took up land in the Blackwood district of West Australia and was a man of some importance – J.P., President of the Agricultural Society etc. He had sons Charles, George and Frank; it is hoped that more information about them will come to light.

The names of the sons of PERCY ALLNUTT were known from his will, but nothing more. An article in the Express about Mr Albert Allnutt, head pharmacist at a London hospital, has led to the extension of the pedigree to the present generation.

PERCY ALLNUTT married Sidonia Josephine Gollier. Their children:

JOHN JOSEPH b.19/11/1901 m.Ivy Violet Hounslow:

ALBERT GEORGE b.4/3/1915 m.Doris Grace Jasper.

The children of JOHN JOSEPH are:

JOHN PETER b.26/10/1928 m. June Hemmings and have children:
TINA CAROL, SHARAH ANN, GARY JOHN.

ANTHONY PAUL b.21/10/1929 m. Hazel Hedderley

MICHAEL CHARLES b.12/3/1931 m. Olive Marshall

LAWRENCE ANDREW b.16/11/1933 m. Eileen Catchpole. Daughter CAROLYN.

Pedigree No.20

This pedigree has been sent to members of this Allnatt family. The marriage of ELIJAH ALLNATT to Maria Leaper, a minor, daughter of William Leaper, plumber, at Paddington parish church has been found. Elijah is described as butcher, son of Edward Allnatt of Hambleton who is probably connected with Pedigree No.13. There are seven children of the latest generation and five are male. Good for the Natts!

The Twickenham Family Pedigree No.2 & Pages 43 & 108-9.

By a remarkable coincidence a new line has been found. Mrs Davis (Caroline Elsie Allnatt) spotted a letter in Country Life written by Joan Allnutt and thus we have been able to trace the descendants of the first marriage of Zachary Allnutt of Twickenham, whose descendants from his second marriage were already known.

Mr Alfred Walter Allnutt and his daughter-in-law, Joan, wife of Archibald Clayton Allnutt, have provided data that has enabled a new pedigree No.21 to be drawn and copies have been sent to members of this branch. The main details are given below:

ZACHARY ALLNUTT (1765/6 - 1842) had by his first wife, Mary Haines, Zachary John and Mary.

ZACHARY JOHN (1803-1871) married Maria Elizabeth Webb and had children: George Zachary, Elizabeth and Maria.

GEORGE ZACHARY (1838-1919) married Louisa Terry and had children: George Terry, Matilda Grace (1877-1948), Arthur Zachary (1879-1942) and Alfred Walter.

GEORGE TERRY b.1875 married Daisy Emily Agnes Ryall and has children - Gordon Terry and Marguerite b.1915.

GORDON TERRY b.1920 married Kate Clinning and has three daughters Gillian Marguerite, Jane Theresa and Elizabeth.

ARTHUR ZACHARY (1879-1942) was unmarried.

ALFRED WALTER b.1884. Married Alice Clara Clayton and has children:

ARCHIBALD CLAYTON b.1912. Married (1) Mary D.Candler d.1945.
(2) Joan M.Stott (whose letter revealed this new data)

ERIC WALTER b.1918. Married Cecilia Connolly and has a daughter Rosalind Patricia.

Unfortunately, there are no sons, at present, in the last generation. Two great-grandsons of Zachary Allnutt are living - George Terry 89 and Alfred Walter 80.

The death certificate of Zachary Allnutt gives his age at death as 76, so that he was born in 1766 or perhaps late in 1765. His year of birth makes it almost certain that he was the son of Zachary of Jamaica who married Sarah Bolin in 1765. This branch can therefore claim unbroken descent from Zachary (1) of Ibstone. Unfortunately, there is no news of the silver tankard.

A Portsmouth Family

In the News-letter 1963 page 6, mention was made of a family deriving from an Allnatt family of Crowmarsh, Oxon. Mr John William Allnatt of Wembley has now accumulated enough information to allow a new pedigree to be made - No.22, copies of which will be sent to members of this branch. It is too long and complicated to give full details here. Briefly, it is now clear that EDWARD ALLNATT b.1811 was the eldest son of RICHARD HOLLIS ALLNATT (1790-1842) of pedigree No.13.

EDWARD ALLNATT had three sons; the eldest EDWARD (1848-1924) also served in the Royal Navy, married Mary Jane Seccombe and had four sons and four daughters and their descendants have been listed in the pedigree. His second and third sons, JOHN WILLIAM (1847-1904) and THOMAS JOHN (1850-1934) both changed the spelling of the surname to ALLNUTT.

There is an amusing story about the marriage of one of these brothers. 'There was a scene worthy of Dickens. In the vestry he insisted on signing the register as Allnutt because he thought it more dignified to copy wealthy people in the town (Portsmouth). His mother was most upset insisting that the family name was Allnatt and should be adhered to, while the parson said whatever form was used they must both sign in the same way. After a long wrangle the mother gave way and the register was signed Allnutt.'

While the Allnatt line can be traced from the yeomen of Crowmarsh down to the present generation, little is known about the descendants of the two brothers who took the alternative spelling of the surname. It is likely that there are some of this branch still living in the Portsmouth area.

CHRISTIAN AND GIVEN NAMES

Quite a lot of young Allnutts and Allnatts will be born in the next few years and their parents will be faced with the problem of choosing suitable names for them. Have a look at the Christian names that their ancestors have borne. I would like to put in a special plea for Zachary - as a second name perhaps - because it has come down in the Ibstone family for ten generations and the last Zachary died only a few years ago.

The American family of Pedigree No.16 has made a practice of perpetuating the maiden names of their wives and such surnames as Chiswell, Dawson, White, Choate, Doyne etc are found in the living generations. From a genealogical standpoint it is most useful and often has led to the identification of an individual about whom only the name was known.

The Australian family of Pedigree No.18 which derives from the Ibstone branch has used the surname Lea for several generations. I hope they will continue to give this honoured surname to their children.

In some families our surname has been used as a second name for the children of daughters. It is an ancient name, one that has come to us almost unchanged from Saxon times and very few families can claim such ancestry.

While I would not like to see boys and girls saddled with names that cause them embarrassment at school, I am reminded of the last two lines of Hilaire Belloc's poem about the gnu:

'Child! If you have a rummy sort of name,
Remember to be thankful for the same.'

ODDS & ENDS FROM LETTERS

From Mrs Leslie S.Allnutt comes a nice story that she found while doing some research on her husband's family. In the History of High Wycombe by Henry Kingsley, 1845, there is a story about Henry Allnutt, of pedigrees Nos.1 & 3. It relates that a convivial party was in progress at the Swan (a favourite haunt of the Allnutts of High Wycombe - Henry's father and uncle had a very alcoholic evening there in 1756) and Mr Allnutt, the draper, had made up his mind to leave off business and live on his independence. He seems to have made an agreement with his old friend Gomme to rebuild his house in High Street. Their lawyer was there and a few bottles of wine soon settled the job and about one o'clock they broke up and the contract was clear and straight. The story related by one of the oldest inhabitants, Joseph Ellwood, goes on: 'All went home, but Mister Gomme who know'd how inclinable the old gentleman's mind was to alter, so instead of going to sleep he was wide-awake enough to call twenty of his men up and before 8 o'clock the next morning, just as Mr Allnutt had sent a notificashun about putting off the job for a while - Why! There wasn't a tile on the roof nor a westage of comfort. That's what I call doing business to prevent stoppages!' This must have been shortly before he died in 1813.

Mrs L.S.Allnutt also writes that she visited Portsmouth and found the old house occupied by Samuel Allnutt, the apothecary, (Pedigree No.5) still there. She met an old man who remembered buying the famous lozenges from the shop, then run by Frederick Allnutt. It is related that Samuel was a non-conformist and his wife Church; so they compromised by attending chapel in the morning and church in the evening.

Neil Ivor Allnatt, of Oxford, to whom we are indebted for much valuable information, has found two early marriages in the registers at Oxford:

7th November 1628 Richard Allnutt born 1607 to Jane Wichelowe of Northstoke, St Giles, Oxford.

21 September 1669 Richard Allnatt of Northstoke to Dorothy Cawthsey, widow of Northstoke, St Thomas, Oxford.

These Richards are probably the ancestors of Richard Allnatt who held the manor of Northstoke in 1710.

He has also made a most interesting find. The bells of the parish church of Sutton Courtney have recently been taken down for repair. The tenor bell had an inscription John Allnutt, Churchwarden. It is known that this bell was cast in 1787.

This John Allnutt is identified as the John of Sutton Courtney pedigree No.10, generation 5.

The bell will be recast and it is intended that the inscription shall be cast on the new bell. Neil Allnatt says that he has rung this bell many times.

Graham Allnatt (pedigree No.13, 7th generation) who lives at Rhiwderin, near Newport, Mon. writes that he is doing a post-graduate course in Education at London University. His grandfather, Frederick Edward, is very much alive and apology is here made for the error that occurred in the pedigree. He has received a copy of the book and has enjoyed it. His youngest son, Leslie Edward, lives with him at Newport. Graham and his sister Angela are contemplating marriage next year. Will they please read my notes on Christian names!

RANDOM NOTES

The Goring Heath Charity

There is good news about this fine old charity which was founded by Henry Alnut in 1724. He left certain pieces of land for its maintenance, some of which were sold years ago. However, one plot in Goring has recently been sold very profitably and this should put it on a sound financial basis for many years.

In the history of Cassington parish church there is a note about Henry Alnut's charity, one of the provisions of which was that boys from Cassington should be educated at the Goring Heath school. Now the boys go to the Cassington village school and the Charity contributes £30 yearly to that school.

The Revd. Albert Cocking, Chaplain of the Goring Heath Charities, has sent the following notes about the Communion Plate:

(1) A beautiful little chalice made by Edward Pearce, London, 1735. It weighs 6½ oz and bears the inscription "For the use of the Altar of St Bartholomews Chappel on Goring Heath. Given by persons present att the Consecration of the Chappel August 24.1742"

(2) A cover for the chalice inscribed with the words "Chappel to Hen: Allnut Sqr"

(3) A Paten made in 1742 by Samuel Wells. It weighs 6 oz and has the same inscription as on the chalice.

The Chaplain will be glad to welcome Family visitors and show them the many items of interest. The Almshouse is situated about 2½ miles from Pangbourne and Goring. It is not easy to reach except by car but a visit to these interesting buildings will well repay the journey.

Insurance Policies

Mr Wulcko has kindly sent some more copies of old policies. The most interesting are:

Moses Allnutt, cooper (pedigree No.7) Sun Fire Office 25/6/1741 on premises in Vine Court, near the Three Cranes, in the parish of St Martin's Vintry - £300.

Matthew Allnutt of Sutton Courtney, farmer (pedigree No.7) Sun Fire Office 27/10/1741 on his stock and livestock £600.

Henry Allnutt of High Wycombe insured Temple Mills with the Hand in Hand 26/12/1860 for £400. This must be Henry of pedigree No.1 6th generation.

John Allnatt of Wallingford, gentleman, Royal Exchange Assurance 29/3/1785 on property in Southstoke £600.

These policies are of great interest; when the insured values are considered in comparison with the present value of the sums, it gives a good idea of the prosperity of the insurers.

The Estates Gazette

A friend in Scotland sent a little book which he found on the 1/- stand at a bookshop. It is A system of cropping a Kitchen Garden by Henry Allnutt (pedigree No.2) the founder of The Estates Gazette which celebrated its centenary in 1958. The book was presented to the present editor with some notes about their founder. Their records had been lost in a bomb raid.

NEWS FROM AMERICA

The Earliest Ancestor

In the News-letter for 1963, quite a lot more about Thomas Allnutt was discovered. Several of the family were willing to club together to employ a genealogist to try to fill the gap between Thomas and the next known Allnutts of Pedigree No.16. The Historical Societies of Virginia and Maryland were approached and also Mr J.F.Dorman who edits The Virginia Genealogist. He has been most helpful in consulting records available to him. His opinion is that there is little hope of filling the gap in the pedigree because the relevant records were destroyed by fires, some accidental and others during the War of Independence and the Civil War. This is a great disappointment. What we particularly wanted to know is whether Thomas had male children and who was the father of William Allnutt of Calvert County. No other Allnutt emigrations of the 17th century to America have been found.

Mr Dorman reviewed our book in the July-September number of The Virginia Genealogist. He gives a summary of the tracing of the family in England, America, Australia and New Zealand from the 16th century from records of parish registers, wills etc permitting the compilation of documented pedigrees. To quote: 'The work has been carefully and competently done. Major A.F.Allnutt is responsible for the publication of this volume which is a credit to the family.'

In a letter from - perhaps the writer had better remain anonymous - 'I went to a party at the Elgin's home and there were eight Allnutts there. Some of them reminded me of people in Dickens - I mean this as a compliment, of course. Very old world Southern is indeed quite English landed gentry.'

Mrs Virginia C. Clohset (a splendid correspondent) has sent Miscellaneous Notes from the Clerk's Office, Frederick's County, Maryland. Among them are records of Allnutts who have not been identified; they are now given in the hope that through their descendants it may be possible to connect them with Pedigree No.16 and with English pedigrees.

From the Goshen Meeting House (Methodist) near Damascus, Maryland. Four burials:

John Allnutt. d.29/4/1900 aged 87 yrs 10 mths. b.1812.

Elizabeth Allnutt (wife of John) d.29/5/1890 aged 75 yrs 9 mths.

Jacob M.Allnutt 1851-1921 and his wife Everlina Warfield, 1859-1921.

From Montgomery County, Maryland. Office of Wills:

Thomas D.Allnutt appointed guardian 1807 of Richard and Sebill Allnutt.

Mary M.Allnutt appointed guardian 1832 of Richard.D., John.T., James.W., Franklin, Elizabeth.J., and Rebecca.D. Allnutt.

Mary Allnutt appointed guardian 1856 of Robert.H.C. and James.N. Allnutt.

This confirms the genealogy compiled by Mr Frederick Dawson (News-letter 1963); The children mentioned in these guardianship deeds must be the children of Robert Doyne and his wife Mary Mackall née Dawson and descended from James and Verlinda (generation 3 of the pedigree). It looks as if there were two Robert Doyne living at about the same time; this may well be so and adds to the difficulty of sorting out these generations.

On page 116 of the book it was suggested that the Zachary Allnutt who married Elizabeth Osborne in 1805 could be the son of Zachary of Jamaica. This guess is now proved wrong. The son of Jamaica Zachary has now been definitely identified with Zachary of Twickenham, Middlesex.

A letter from Mr Waddy Michaux Allnutt of Richmond Va. has brought to light another branch of the family of Pedigree No.16. He is the youngest son by a third marriage of ROBERT DOYNE ALLNUTT (1851-1942) and his grandparents were WILLIAM P.ALLNUTT and Katherine Jewell who were married in Frederick County, Md. in 1839.

It seems probable that this William is the son of Robert Doyne, the son of James and Verlinda Hawkins of the third generation (see News-letter 1963 pp.12 & 13.)

William & Katharine Allnutt had four sons and one daughter; by his second marriage there were at least four sons. It is probable that there are descendants of this line in various parts of the United States. It would be interesting to know where the name DOYNE originated. It appears in the 4th generation but this one is not Mr W.M.Allnutt's ancestor; and again in the seventh generation - Emily Doyne, Mrs Loos.

A letter from Philip Henry Allnatt which arrived just in time gives news of the Cherry Creek family of pedigree No.17. Clarence Erwin, Richard Lewis and Philip Henry and their families are living in Cherry Creek where the family has been farming for nearly a hundred years.

The Rev. Warren Allnatt is at Cox's Creek, Kentucky and the Rev. Donald Allnatt at Ogdensburg, New York.

Jessica Mildred, Mrs Hadley also has a farm at Cherry Creek and she teaches school.

NEWS FROM AUSTRALIA AND NEW ZEALAND

During the year letters have been received from several members of the family. The most important is one from Henry Glenholme Allnutt of Toorak Gardens, South Australia. He is Glen of Pedigree No.18 and it is unfortunate that we did not contact him earlier because he has been able to correct and add much to this pedigree. The new data is given in full later.

Miss Kathleen Walker of Warialda, N.S.W. whose brother John visited us in September, has given some corrections to the descendants of Robert Henry Venn Allnutt (page 123 of Book and pages 12 & 13 of News-letter 1963).

Margaret Allnutt, wife of John Nicholl Allnutt (Pedigree No.5) of Chislehurst, Cowaramup, West Australia, writes that she has been in contact with the family of Samuel Lea Allnutt for many years and has given some news of the daughters of Lillian (Mrs Hughes) who live in West Australia. She has discovered another Allnutt family after some research in the Battye Library, Perth. This has been added to Pedigree No.14. We are grateful to her for tracing yet another of the missing links.

Mrs Jesse Allnutt of Corwen, New Zealand, an enthusiastic correspondent has sent details of the present generation of Pedigree No.19. This is a thriving line and, from photographs, right up to Allnutt standard of good looks!

VISITORS FROM OVERSEAS

Mrs Elizabeth Isabel Grant, of Glace Bay, Nova Scotia, and her daughter Mrs Christene Fitt visited the Bodleian Library to see the notebooks of her uncle, William Henry Allnutt. She was then told of the Family History and put in touch with us and now has a copy of the Book. The information she was able to give is recorded under Pedigree No.8.

Mr & Mrs John Bledsoe of Manhasset, New York. Mrs Bledsoe was Mary Dawson Allnutt (pedigree No.16, generation 7). They visited the home of Mr Bledsoe's ancestors - Bletsoe, Bedfordshire.

It is a very common mistake to suppose that the word "the" is always used in the same sense.
 It is not. It is used in two different senses.

The first sense is that of a definite article.
 It is used to refer to a particular person or thing.
 The second sense is that of an indefinite article.
 It is used to refer to a person or thing in general.

For example, "the king" refers to a particular king.
 "A king" refers to a king in general.
 "The king" is used to refer to a particular king.
 "A king" is used to refer to a king in general.

It is important to understand the difference between these two uses of the word "the".
 This is because it affects the meaning of the sentence.
